The College’s primary purpose is the intellectual development of persons through the maintenance of the highest standards of academic excellence and educational growth. The College of New Rochelle was founded in 1904 by the Ursuline Order as the first Catholic college for women in New York State. Today, the College serves a student population of more than 7,000 students. In addition to the School of Arts and Sciences, which remains all-women, the College has three co-educational schools: the Graduate School, established in 1969; the School of New Resources, in 1972; and the School of Nursing, in 1976. The College’s main campus is in New Rochelle, with six branch campuses of the School of New Resources located throughout the New York metropolitan area.

The College offers strong reasons for seeking private support. The importance of the life of the spirit and a reverence for the individual are hallmarks of an Ursuline value-based education. These characteristics are manifest in a College of New Rochelle education today. The College’s primary purpose is the intellectual development of persons through the maintenance of the highest standards of academic excellence and educational growth. From this tradition, the College derives its dedication to the education of women and men in the liberal arts and in professional studies. The College reaches out to those who have not previously had access to higher education and places particular emphasis on the concept of lifelong learning.

Private support allows the College to build upon its commitment and mission as an educational institution by providing academic scholarships, grants, financial aid, and technology enhancements. Similarly, funding is needed for physical plant renovations, special programs, and curriculum development.

Gifts to the College include cash, appreciated securities, capital donations, real estate, charitable gift annuities, charitable remainder trusts, endowed funds, and bequests.

When The College of New Rochelle is included in estate plans through a planned gift or a bequest, thoughtful donors reduce their taxes, protect their assets, and generate income. By reaching beyond their own lives to assure opportunities for future generations, generous donors shape the future and make a critical difference in the College’s ability to fulfill its mission.

Dear Members of the College Family,

Wherever he went, he seemed to light up the space. Almost one year ago now, Benedict XVI arrived in the United States for a visit to the United Nations. All along the way, in dramatic contradiction to the media’s predictions that this would be an unhappy father chastising his errant children, the Pope walked among us in encouragement and affirmation, calling us still to higher ground and purpose. Here was the father so proud of the family, grateful for our faithfulness, and reminding us that we are still so supremely well positioned to influence our nation and the world in the promotion of human dignity.

During the papal visit, it was my great honor to meet the Pope on three different occasions. Of course, I was present when the Holy Father, at his explicit request, met with Catholic college presidents and the education officers of the American dioceses. Dr. Ellen Curry Damato, Executive Vice President, and I were privileged to be guests of the Holy See, seated behind the delegates of nations on the floor of the General Assembly at the United Nations. Finally, and without doubt, an experience that will remain with me forever, my wife, Barbara, and I were guests of Cardinal Egan in the chapel of our seminary at Dunwoodie, Yonkers, as the Pope walked among special-needs children in an event organized by Catholic Charities. So lovingly, so reverently, so joyfully, the Holy Father greeted each child. Undisturbed by the spontaneity, sometimes the sheer unpredictability of these beautiful children, the Pope, in his unhurried embrace of each, provided extraordinary personal witness to the message of Jesus: “Let the little children come to me, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.”

Having watched this all in awe, and unashamed to admit, with tears streaming down my face, I was, to say the least, unprepared when the Cardinal directed the Holy Father to Barbara and me: “Holy Father, here is Dr. Sweeney, President of The College of New Rochelle, one of our finest Catholic colleges.” I simply thanked the Holy Father for the encouragement of his visit and the generosity of his extraordinary ministry in the Church.

As the Pope moved on, I have never felt more the privilege of leading this great community, of representing all of you who have been faithful companions in keeping this College vital and vibrant for 105 years. Realizing that we never operate in isolation, the Pope’s visit reminded us that we are part of something so enormous, the universal Gospel mandate “that they may have life and have it abundantly,” that lives have been touched and transformed for generations and are still so touched by the College.

The Annual Report provides us with the opportunity to inventory the precious values which animate this university community. The gift of the Ursulines to the world in 1904, The College of New Rochelle still proudly flies the flag of Catholic liberal arts college for women. We stand fast to our commitment to the Catholic intellectual, moral and social justice tradition. We believe more than ever in our 105-year commitment to the education of women; we want to have our students view the world through the eyes of women. We believe in the primacy of the liberal arts and in the value of building community drawn from diversity.
As we celebrate in this report the conclusion of another successful year at the College, in this current year as I pen this, how quickly economic crisis has gripped the nation and world. Although, like everyone else, we are experiencing the effect of this economy, at CNR we are resolute in our mission, and we reaffirm the essential partnership we have with you.

As vital members of this College of New Rochelle community, you are part of an educational enterprise that has been a thriving institution for 105 years. I count on your interest and support. We are a wise community. We have weathered storms before. I have no doubt we will emerge from this one stronger, wiser, and ever more faithful to the success of each of our students.

This report lists so many friends of the College. I never take that friendship for granted. In good times and times of challenge, these friends walk with us and support us. I am so grateful for your faithful company. You allow us, as the Holy Father described us, to be a “messenger of hope” for the nation and world!

Sincerely,

Stephen J. Sweeney, Ph.D.
President
Members of the CNR Community had several occasions to visit with Pope Benedict during his historic journey. We asked several members of the CNR Community to share reflections of the Pope’s visit.

To Discuss, To Reflect, To Inspire Action

By Dr. Joan Bailey
Special Assistant to the President for Mission & Identity

The Papal visit of last spring was of special importance to Catholic higher education in many ways but most significant was no doubt his speech directed to Catholic educators delivered at The Catholic University of America. The pastoral and motivational tone was certainly valuable and significantly different from what the United States media had predicted based on their reporting of some of the more divisive and visible critics of American Catholic higher education. Likewise the content, which addressed the Catholic identity of Catholic educational institutions, especially higher education, emphasized an understanding of Catholic identity that relies on “the noble goals of scholarship and education, founded on the unity of truth and in the service of the person and the community.” The Pope made clear that the “Catholic identity is not dependent upon statistics. Neither can it be equated simply with orthodoxy of course content. It demands and inspires much more: namely that each and every aspect of your learning communities reverberates within the ecclesial life of faith. Only in faith can truth become incarnate and reason truly human...” This certainly presents challenges for us at CNR, but it also opposes those “critics” who would use simple numbers as the litmus test for being Catholic. It is also noteworthy that the Pope was encouraging not scolding as some folks were predicting. But most important about this is that the media had chosen to give voice to the “litmus test” folks before the visit and so had prepped readers and listeners for a confrontation. That same media hardly reported the pastoral encouragement that did in fact occur. Now we in Catholic higher education must work more assiduously to tell the vibrant story of the current situation of Catholic education in America and to make ever more visible, through our diversity, our continuing great contributions to the Academy, the Church and the Society.

In addition to the Pope’s address to Catholic educators, his homilies and his speeches have provided much to discuss and reflect upon and to inspire action. The speech at the United Nations has already driven dialogue on Catholic social justice and global justice and is apparently already bearing fruit in the actions of the United Nations Secretary General Ban Ki-moon, who is expected to soon release a report on the “responsibility to protect” human rights for the General Assembly to debate. As Pope Benedict XVI said, nations of the world joining together in the United Nations must hold sovereign states accountable for the atrocious crimes that occur when sovereign states refuse to act or, even worse, are themselves the perpetrators of abuses of persons. In short, the Papal visit has made a significant impact on all Americans, Catholic and non-Catholic alike, as his words have recalled us to our foundational commitments to creating a society with justice and equality at its core.
Although encountering some physical hardships, the students who attended didn't seem to mind. Merin George, a senior in the School of Arts and Sciences, commented on the enthusiastic nature of the attendees. “I couldn't help but notice how people remained cheerful for the most part of the day.” What struck Merin was the diversity of the crowd who, at another time and in another place, may not have reacted so pleasantly to the discomforts of the day. She remembers how the mood became even more joyful once they all caught sight of the Popemobile. “When the Pope arrived I found myself cheering with sheer joy along with thousands of others who waved Papal flags in unison. When the Pope passed by in his car, we all screamed excitedly.”

I DON'T THINK THEY HAD ANY IDEA WHAT LAY BEFORE THEM THAT DAY.

Nineteen students from The College of New Rochelle traveled to the Archdiocesan seminary, St. Joseph's in Yonkers, for the Papal Youth Rally on April 19, 2008. In preparing for the day, the Archdiocese laid out some very specific guidelines. The Pope was expected to arrive at 5 p.m., but students were expected to arrive at noon and could not leave the grounds after 2 p.m. Their commitment was for the entire day. No backpacks, food, water bottles or other personal amenities could be taken onto the grounds. Food vouchers were provided to all attendees, but lines were long. Seating was on the ground, and shady spots were few.

When the Pope passed by in his car, we all screamed excitedly.”

The most important part of the day for Laura Enright, a senior in the School of Nursing, was the message she gleaned from Pope Benedict’s remarks. This was an historical day as none of the students present had ever known a pope other than John Paul II. Laura wondered what he would find to say to this generation of youth. “I found his message about the saints inspiring, people whose life and works were carried out in the Americas. It gave me a sense that I could do good works as...
When the Pope arrived, I saw something unexpected. I saw people who believe and who honor the head of the Catholic Church, craning their necks to get a glimpse of him. When he passed by in his car, we all screamed excitedly.

well in my lifetime.” Even more striking was what the Pope didn’t say. “Without telling us specific ways to live our lives,” writes Laura, “Pope Benedict reassured us if we keep the truth of Jesus Christ as the guiding factor in our lives, we can make a real difference in changing the world for the better.”

Jazmine Garzon, a junior with the School of Nursing, had similar thoughts. “There were a few things that I took with me that day and one of them was how much influence this generation has to make change. Hope and faith is sometimes all you need. Pope Benedict gave us that hope and he showed me that I can act to make a change and build peace in the world. Who else but us, God’s children?”

Pope Benedict offered a profound gift to the youth of our Church. He courageously challenged them to work toward ending drug and substance abuse, poverty, racism, violence, the exploitation of women, and the degradation of the earth. He called on them to bear witness to the Good News of Jesus on the streets of New York. Through prayer, developing a strong, personal relationship with God, and in fellowship with the Church body, Benedict encouraged them to listen to the whispers of God in the extraordinary journey of their lives.

What a grace-filled message offered to a remarkable generation of young people. Those 19 CNR students were each empowered to make their lives a gift of self for the love of the Lord Jesus and, in turn, to share that love with every member of the human family. Not one of them left that day untouched by this message, not one of them discouraged to discover and embrace God’s particular vocation for them.

No, I don’t think our students had any idea as to what would happen to them that day.
YOUR HOLINESS,
We were as little children awaiting your arrival at the United Nations; we were as the little children waiting to see Jesus, wanting to be with Him. It was as if it were some two thousand years ago and Christ was walking among us healing and blessing us, and we were those little children whom he asked to come unto Him.

Usually dripping in dignity and titles, we possessed none of that guile, none of that artifice, none of that formality. Rather, we felt privileged to be present at such an occasion. Filled with excitement, with peace and with joy, as if anticipating the gifts we would receive on a special occasion – a birthday, a graduation, Christmas, Hanukah…, we were as little children, innocent and awed, awaiting your arrival.

The feeling was visceral, pervasive in all of us – the believer and non-believer, the Catholic and non-Catholic, the young and the old, from doctors to laborers, from clergy to laity, we were all awaiting your arrival for your healing, for your blessing and for your joy – that same joy exhibited on your face immediately following your election to the Papacy.

In Washington, at the United Nations, in New York, at Ground Zero, at the Synagogue, at the Churches and Stadiums, at the Meetings – planned and unplanned, at the prayer services and the Masses, in person and on TV, you healed and blessed the world, the country, the city, the Church.

In the Church, we needed you to heal the scars from the injury of priestly abuse.

In the Country and, particularly in New York City, we needed you to heal the scars from the injury of 9/11.

In the World, symbolized by the United Nations, we needed you to heal the scars from the injuries of wars, genocide, famine and poverty.

And heal us you did, by your presence, by your grace, and by your love – that authentic love for all of us as God’s children regardless of circumstances or belief. And how generous you were to us! Your presence was a great gift, your words a further gift. Yet, your healing and your blessings were the gifts we needed and which we cherish most of all.

Upon our meeting, I only spoke a few words to you. Those few words seemed to speak volumes to you.

“Holiness, thank you for healing us,” I said, as you took my hand in greeting. You stopped, looked deeply into my eyes, into my soul, as if confirming to me the importance of my words.

At that moment, you seemed to know, as I did, that I was only the instrument articulating this profound spiritual truth which was given to me to deliver to you.

Still holding my hands, you waited for me to continue, to say more. (It seemed an eternity…) Finally, I added, “and blessing us.”
That’s all I could say; that’s all you needed to hear; that’s all that needed to be said, as we stood face to face enveloped in the deep grace of God’s holiness.

Somehow, you knew that I spoke for the millions of people throughout the nation and throughout the world; somehow you understood that I was expressing their profound gratitude in the message I had just conveyed to you, perhaps affirming what you knew to be the true purpose of your visit.

You started to move to the next person, yet continued to hold onto my hand with your papal ring hand. As if to seal what had just occurred, I kissed your ring with great reverence and respect. Only then did you release my hand and move on to other people.

At the end of the receiving line, a chorus of young children waited for you. They presented flowers to you and sang for you in German. One of the songs was from your childhood and, for a few poignant moments, you were a child again. Then, we all were as little children enveloped in God’s love, being healed and blessed.

After the conclusion of the ceremony, as you walked past us again, exiting the gallery, confirming all that had come to pass, the healing and the blessing radiated through the halls of the United Nations and, indeed, onto the streets of New York City and its environs, symbolic of the healing and blessing of the world. You had begun this healing and blessing in Washington, but because of your visit to the United Nations, the healing and blessing felt more intense now, particularly at Ground Zero. Hence, Ground Zero became the heart of your healing and blessing of all humanity.

You arrived in this country, some said, as a rock star. That characterization, however, minimizes your impact and your intention. Your impact on us was immediate – quiet and intimate, although joyfully noisy, exuberant and public. Your intention was to bless us with your presence, but you profoundly healed us in that blessing, with an evolving, slow, permanent healing of our souls.

Consequently, we are all the better for your visit. We continue to heal and be blessed as we go on with our lives, knowing that you – holy man, priest, pope, embodiment of the sacred lineage of two thousand years – walked among us and healed us with your presence, your blessings and your love. We were as the little children, knowing what they knew then, wanting what they wanted then: the goodness, the presence, the holiness, the connection of the love – God’s all encompassing love of which you so eloquently speak, write and live.

We were as little children!

Thank you for healing us… and blessing us.

Respectfully,

Baroness Flavia Frati-Spagnola

ears before his call to be the successor to the Chair of St. Peter, Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger acquired the reputation of being a stoic enforcer of the teachings of The Catholic Church as the president of the Congregation of the Doctrine of the Faith. People saw him as unbending in his decisions, a hardliner who was coldly conservative. This picture followed him into his papacy. The world did not expect anything different. However, his visit to the United States became a surprising education and the dissolution of a stereotype that haunted his life previously. His joyful demeanor and his boundless energy for a man 81 years old spoke volumes to the truth of who this man really was.

The first indication came when Pope Benedict asked to meet with the presidents of Catholic colleges and universities of the United States. Because of past experiences a general foreboding arose that correctives were coming. To the surprise of many at this meeting at The Catholic University of America, the Pope praised the educators present, encouraging them to continue their good work. The scene was set for more affirmation to come.

As Pope Benedict traveled to different venues in Washington and New York, he exuded warmth and joy that became infectious. I think of those famous lines in a Rocky movie where he battles a Russian giant in Russia and is booed in the beginning of the fight. At the end he states: “When we first met, I didn't much like you, and you didn't like me. But we changed. If we can change, then everyone can change.” Pope Benedict was not the man we thought he was and so many people allowed themselves to think differently about him. And he was affected by this experience too because he could see how deeply the faith resides in the people of America, and he stated this openly.

I believe that the single-most important moment on this trip which I mentioned in my homily on Sunday, April 20, 2008 was accepting Cardinal Sean O’Malley’s request to meet with a number of survivors of sexual abuse by the clergy. Unable to go to Boston, Boston came to the Pope. It was a moving moment as the Pope listened to each person, while holding their hand and weeping with them as they shared their painful stories. These moments entered into his remarks as he moved from venue to venue. His itinerary was changed to make room for this important meeting, something we would never have expected.

Ultimately, the Pope came to know and like what he saw in Americans, and Americans came to know and like a joyous, gentle and warm shepherd in the person of the Pope.

DEAR GRADUATES AND FRIENDS,

Our CNR family is a remarkable community of more than 40,000 graduates, and thousands of faculty, staff, parents and friends. It is a family with deep ties, sharing a commitment to the liberal arts, to service, and to the College’s educational mission. On behalf of the Board of Trustees, thank you very much for your active participation in the life of CNR through your gifts to the College in 2007-2008.

We are grateful for your gifts of all kinds: your time as a volunteer, your confidence in recommending CNR to a friend or family member, your guidance with students, your attendance at CNR programs, and your hospitality in sharing your home or business for a College event.

We are also grateful for your financial support. There was an 8% increase in funds contributed to CNR last year. These gifts provide important enhancements to every student’s education, the most visible being the completion of the beautiful, award-winning Wellness Center. Your Annual Fund gifts provide enhancements not covered by tuition—student opportunities for leadership and service, access to online educational resources, guest lectures by distinguished visiting professors, or travel to an honors conference.

Gifts to CNR totaled $5.3 million from 4,438 donors—graduates of all four Schools, current and former faculty and staff, friends, foundations, and corporations.

- Unrestricted gifts to the Annual Fund totaled over $2 million; CNR graduates gave $1.5 million of this total.
- Leadership gifts from 388 President’s Circle members provided $1.3 million to the Annual Fund.
- For the seventh consecutive year, faculty and staff support increased. How grateful we are to these partners for all they do for our students and the College.
- The College received $2,795,000 in new capital gifts and pledges from 206 graduates and friends.
- Estate gifts from our faithful alumnae provided more than $300,000.

Special thanks to all who contributed to the Annual Fund for the first time, particularly our most recent graduates of the Class of 2008! More than half of our new donors to the Annual Fund are School of New Resources and School of Nursing alumnae/i.

I also thank you for embracing Partners for Excellence, a new College-wide initiative created to strengthen our CNR family, by engaging and connecting us more closely to Alma Mater. You partner with us to educate students and fulfill CNR’s mission. Your ongoing involvement and support are vital. Thank you, again, for your outstanding support of The College of New Rochelle, so apparent in this report.

Sincerely,

Christine LaSala SAS ’72

The College of New Rochelle opened its new $28 million holistic Wellness Center last spring to serve students, faculty, and the greater campus community. The Center will enable CNR to reframe its approach to health and well-being, bringing that knowledge into the community and having a vital impact on the healthcare crisis in America.

The Wellness Center is part of The Campaign for The College of New Rochelle—implemented to strengthen financial resources in order for CNR to continue to fulfill its mission. Included in this Campaign, in addition to donations to the Wellness Center construction and programs, are gifts to restore Holy Family Chapel, to strengthen CNR’s Endowment Fund, and all gifts to the Annual Fund. There are still many naming opportunities available in the Wellness Center, and your continued support of this vital facility will be gratefully received.

Our heartfelt appreciation is extended to each of the following donors to The Campaign for The College of New Rochelle.

Donors to the Annual Fund are listed in the sections that follow.

THE PRESIDENT’S CIRCLE
Leadership for the Second Century

The President’s Circle is an Annual Fund gift club established in 1967 that recognizes those alumnae/i, parents, faculty, staff and friends of The College of New Rochelle whose leadership giving provides more than 75% of the unrestricted Annual Fund dollars raised from individuals. President’s Circle membership for 2008-2009* is extended to the following donors whose combined unrestricted giving (including matching gifts) to the Annual Fund totaled $1,000 as of June 30, 2008. Contributions to the Golf and Tennis Event are counted toward membership in The President’s Circle in that this event supports the Annual Fund. Membership is also extended to those individuals who have given a cumulative lifetime total of $100,000 or more to The College of New Rochelle.

*Starting July 1, 2008 the new Partners for Excellence gift societies replace those that had been in effect for more than 40 years (see inside back cover).

The College extends profound thanks to the following 388 donors for their generous gifts to the Annual Fund totaling $1,318,100 for fiscal year 2008.
