The College of New Rochelle was founded in 1904 by the Ursuline Order as the first Catholic college for women in New York State. Today, the College serves a student population of more than 7,000 students. In addition to the School of Arts and Sciences, which remains all-women, the College has three co-educational schools: the Graduate School, established in 1969; the School of New Resources, in 1972; and the School of Nursing, in 1976. The College’s main campus is in New Rochelle, with six branch campuses of the School of New Resources located throughout the New York metropolitan area.

The College offers strong reasons for seeking private support. The importance of the life of the spirit and a reverence for the individual are hallmarks of an Ursuline value-based education. These characteristics are manifest in a College of New Rochelle education today. The College’s primary purpose is the intellectual development of persons through the maintenance of the highest standards of academic excellence and educational growth. From this tradition, the College derives its dedication to the education of women and men in the liberal arts and in professional studies. The College reaches out to those who have not previously had access to higher education and places particular emphasis on the concept of lifelong learning.

Private support allows the College to build upon its commitment and mission as an educational institution by providing academic scholarships, grants, financial aid, and technology enhancements. Similarly, funding is needed for physical plant renovations, special programs, and curriculum development.

Gifts to the College include cash, appreciated securities, capital donations, real estate, charitable gift annuities, charitable remainder trusts, endowed funds, and bequests.

When The College of New Rochelle is included in estate plans through a planned gift or a bequest, thoughtful donors reduce their taxes, protect their assets, and generate income. By reaching beyond their own lives to assure opportunities for future generations, generous donors shape the future and make a critical difference in the College’s ability to fulfill its mission.

DEAR MEMBERS OF THE COLLEGE FAMILY,

One of the College’s strengths for many years, recognized by our accrediting agencies and federal and state education colleagues, has been our planning process. In my first months as president in April 1998, I invited the College Community to engage in a renewed long-range planning process, quickly named “the visioning process” by the College Community. As president, I wanted the College to take the opportunity to seek a larger vision for the College beyond our usual five-year projection which is adjusted every two years. This larger vision would therefore inform all our planning efforts.

To achieve this goal, all members of the College Community were asked to participate in a variety of information gathering exercises, including interviews, focus groups, developing historical timelines, and several other data-generating techniques. To plan our future, we would need the richness of thinking of every person involved in our mission. The question being asked and answered through these exercises was: what values must be present for the College to be authentically The College of New Rochelle in 2015?

Analyzing the information we collected, several “non-negotiable values” surfaced. There was remarkable unanimity in the College’s support for these central characteristics:

- Ursuline heritage
- Commitment to access
- Diversity
- Excellent learning environment
- Student-centeredness

We were naming in these non-negotiables the foundational elements of the College’s mission as a Catholic women’s liberal arts college that is known as a community drawn from diversity whose excellent teaching-learning success provides solid, relevant career preparation. These are the central elements which constitute who we are as an institution. They have been our hallmarks as the College has expanded and prospered, navigated the challenges, and found new educational opportunities over these recent years.

Almost 14 years have transpired since that visioning exercise. As we review the year 2009 – 2010, and facilitate presidential transition to our 13th President in July 2011, we are well served to rehearse the dominant themes of our recent history, recognizing that in them lies our future.

CATHOLIC TO THE CORE

We begin, of course, with our commitment as Catholic college. Here reason and faith, intellect and compassion journey together. We share the treasures of human knowledge with our students and inspire them to continue to seek the truth, to continue that journey which gives each student “wisdom for life.” As Pope John Paul II described it, our mandate as Catholic college is to search for the truth already knowing the Source of that truth.

Our Ursuline foundresses were women with a vision drawn from the Gospels. They were determined to bring higher education to women in a community of academic excellence, intellectual rigor in freedom, and spiritual growth. Our institutional “conversation” for these 107 years has always given a special place to the Catholic intellectual, moral, and social justice traditions. Our Catholic heritage gives us the great gift of freedom to have an unselfconscious conversation about our values and beliefs. I am particularly proud of our inclusivity in welcoming people of all beliefs to this conversation.

In the last decades there has been a renewed enthusiasm for defining the Catholic identity of colleges. We who profess such identity claim a shared Christian vision and goals. We reflect on human existence and knowledge in the light of faith. Ours is a deep respect for and faithfulness to the spiritual and secular wisdom which precedes us. It is not just the accumulation of knowledge we seek; we profess that talent and education are meant to serve, to shape society and change the world.
We are unapologetic about our values and expressing them at the College. They infuse the natural dialogue of classroom discussion. They resonate in the conversations of our student organizations, in the service we undertake, in the way our graduates live their lives once they leave our campuses—for we wish our graduates to be personally and professionally successful, of course, but we wish them to be people of conscience and compassion as well.

How does a Catholic college like CNR stay relevant and vital in a sea of “new age” views, shifting values and priorities, information overload, and altered expectations for higher education? The answer resides in our renewed consciousness of our mission and identity, and to know, as College, with greater clarity, who we are and why we exist. We achieve this by returning often to one of our non-negotiables, our Ursuline heritage.

To keep before us our rich Catholic, Ursuline, women-centered mission, several years ago, I appointed Dr. Joan Bailey, then the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs at the College, as my Special Assistant on Mission and Identity and then to her current role as Vice President for Mission and Identity.

In this role, Dr. Bailey is devoting her attention to shaping opportunities for our community to keep its commitment to Catholic and Ursuline fresh and vibrant. She is providing opportunities for our students, administration, and the entire community to celebrate the College’s mission and Catholic identity, arranging seminars and inviting selected guest speakers to CNR. Dr. Bailey has done a brilliant job in providing ways to express the College’s Catholicity.

WOMEN AS WELL AS CATHOLIC

We are a women's college—a women's college as much as is permitted by law, that is. As you know, the undergraduate School of Arts & Sciences is for women only. We were the first Catholic college for women in New York State in 1904, one of only a handful at the time in the United States, and we remain the only one in New York State now 106 years later. We are not a women's college only by headcount or absence of men but, more importantly, in our commitment to “see the world through the eyes of women.”

It is the ethos of CNR to recognize in curriculum, in institutional behavior, and in learning styles the appropriate place of women in the world. This takes place in all the schools of the College. What a privilege it has been to be the president of such a distinctive institution. It has been an enormous privilege to preside over a women's university which came into being before women were allowed to vote and which, I know, made significant contributions to the success of the women's movement.

Having committed ourselves to maintain an undergraduate school for women only, we have faced, and overcome, many challenges. Of course, a women's college is not for all women. But it is the right college for many, many women. In the last years, we have worked to tell our story to as many women as possible, and the effort has been met with increasing success. This semester we had the highest enrollment for our freshman class in recent years. We enrolled outstanding students from an increasing number of states beyond just New York. Our message is reaching new communities of students, women who are partnering with CNR for their advanced education.

Women are coming to CNR because women have been, are, and continue to be, the primary mission and identity of the College. We place women at the center of the academic experience. We develop their intellectual, spiritual, and professional skills. We teach women the way women learn best.

Multiculturalism may be a catchphrase or a future goal at some colleges and universities, but at The College of New Rochelle it flows naturally from our Ursuline heritage.

WOMEN (AND MEN) OF DIVERSITY
In my role as president, these last 14 years, and in my 35 years here, I have continued enthusiastically the Ursuline mission of building community—which for the last 40 years here has been community drawn from the diversity of the society around us. As I have said many times, The College of New Rochelle is not a museum. Every decade, new generations of students find their place on our campuses and in our classrooms and lecture halls. Multiculturalism may be a catchphrase or a future goal at some colleges and universities, but at The College of New Rochelle it flows naturally from our Ursuline heritage. And we are all enriched by the diversity, by the multiplicity of experiences and viewpoints brought to us by our diversities of age, religion, socio-economic background, ethnicity, and race. We are undergraduates and graduates. We conduct our university in a variety of delivery systems and on six campuses.

The College of New Rochelle is a united nations and our task as faculty and administrators is to open minds, refine thinking, and enable students to know, digest, master, and use the knowledge at CNR to which they are exposed. This diversity on our six campuses gives us a wonderful richness as a community. In turn, thanks to the reciprocal nature of education, all of us are enriched. If we are to be true to our mission to graduate those who will make a difference in the world, then we must constitute our university community honoring this diversity which is the world.

TEACHING THE LIBERAL ARTS
The College of New Rochelle has been true to its mission of a liberal arts college since 1904. The first descriptive pamphlet of the College, published in 1904, described the basic philosophy of the school, then known as the College of Saint Angela, in these words: “The object of this institution is to train and develop harmoniously all the faculties of young women by means of a four years’ course of advanced studies leading to the attainment of the degree of A.B.”

The College’s first ideal of its graduates was a woman of culture, of efficiency, and of power. This was stated in an early catalog, “a woman capable of upholding the noblest ideals of the home and of the Church and possessed of the training that shall make her an efficient worker in society and in the professional world.”

In this way, and in many others, the foundresses were following the philosophy of Blessed John Henry Cardinal Newman, who set forth his vision of teaching and the structure and purposes of Catholic higher education in his 1852 classic thesis, The Idea of a University. “If then a practical end must be assigned to a University course, I say it is that of training good members of society. Its art is the art of social life, and its end is fitness for the world.”

And so today still our students are given the tools they need to become self-confident, independent, successful, and compassionate. Our graduates receive a liberal education that equips them for life and provides training of will and heart, paying attention to the whole person.

Those of us who are privileged to guide the growth of CNR today know that our strength lies in just such a liberal arts curriculum. While “liberal arts” may seem old fashioned in this technological age, it is the depth and breadth of the curriculum that provide our students with the knowledge and skills required in a world that is constantly changing. Haven’t we always been known for our commitment to the full development of persons—an ideal of the Ursulines for their 475 years of service in this world?

It is this tradition of a liberal arts education at CNR that you and I value and support. We provide training of will and heart, paying attention to the whole person. This is our mission which we will continue to honor and preserve.

CAREER PREPARATION
At CNR, we celebrate Cardinal Newman’s imperative for the university: to create a curriculum that recognizes the realities of the world. We believe genuine career preparation must be connected inextricably to the liberal arts. Research, analysis, critical thinking, communication, exploration of the meaning of relationships, and community are integral to the liberal arts curriculum. These abilities give students the foundation and freedom to fully develop their talents, form the best foundation for any career, and provide access to an enriched life for a lifetime. It is for that reason, a decade ago, that we selected our College slogan, “Wisdom for life,” that turn of phrase rich in meaning at so many levels which sums up what we are about as The College of New Rochelle.

WHAT OF OUR FUTURE?
The College of New Rochelle is more than any one individual, past and present and future. It is our home. It is home not only for generations of students who have found in this sacred place meaning in their life, but a community that is gifted with consensus on who we are and what we’re about.

In my years in the classroom, as an administrator, and as president, I have not had to add to the College things different or unique, but rather have worked to intensify and strengthen what we already are. I leave CNR knowing that the visions of St. Angela who made her extraordinary contribution to humanity and of Mother Irene who gifted the world with The College of New Rochelle will continue to flourish under the new presidency.

As I said in 2002, in our Quarterly, on the anniversary of my 25 years of service to CNR, our mission continues as university to provide safe space—sacred space—where people can discover and strengthen their dignity and, with this reinforced self-worth, move out to change the world.

We have a unique opportunity at CNR to model for society an environment that values diversity, promotes tolerance for difference, and prizes justice. This journey to provide such an environment began with Mother Irene Gill and her Ursuline companions, and continued through the thousands of faculty and staff who have been our principal resource in implementing our mission.

As president of the College for the past 14 years, I am deeply gratified and grateful for the support of the entire College Community. It is so important that we as community continue this great commitment to each other and to all our students who turn to us to partner with them in their education.

Our precious commitments continue gloriously in the naming of our first lay woman president, Judith Huntington, who brings to the position of president her deep faith convictions, intelligence, management talents, and her deep knowledge of and devotion to the College over these past ten years as our Vice President for Financial Affairs. We as College are blessed and fortunate to have such an outstanding person to assume the role of president. She will bring us to new heights!

I am humbled and grateful at the privilege it has been to be part of the rich tapestry of The College of New Rochelle. My role as president has been in many ways, to facilitate the work of others. My work has been to promote the teaching of our faculty and to permit our administration and staff to operate this vessel of a College, while I have guided our course through the turbulent waters of higher education by holding firmly, as always, to the non-negotiables that define to others who we are ourselves.

My duty to you all for the last 14 years as president, for the last 35 years as faculty member and administrator, has been to articulate in as many ways as possible, the values we hold as a Catholic women’s liberal arts college.

As president, I have greeted the College’s graduates as they cross the stage on Maura Lawn and in the vastness of Radio City Music Hall to accept from me their degrees, the symbol of their achievement. I was recently told that I personally signed almost 20,000 diplomas (and I have one more graduation in May of 2011 still to come). This represents, in these 13 graduations, just about 45% of all the graduates of the College in its entire 106-year history. In signing each diploma personally,
I exercise a sacred responsibility. The numbers each year lately, are impressive, more than 1,200 undergraduate and graduate degrees. But each graduate is an individual, and we pray that this Catholic women’s liberal arts university has touched each person sufficiently to enable each to be an effective member of society, a person of service, conscience, and compassion. I am proud of each graduate and I am proud and grateful to all of you whose support allows our mission to continue and to flourish.

On July 1, 2011, I take on a new title, President Emeritus, and hand on the leadership of the College to President Huntington. As I prepare to do so, I am every day more and more conscious that the dominant emotion for me after 35 years at CNR and 14 as president is gratitude—gratitude for all who have walked with me these years in keeping The College of New Rochelle a strong and vital educational institution. I have always known and appreciated the role you have played in supporting me in the extraordinary honor which has been mine in leading the community since 1997. Your individual friendship and collective support have been great blessings and I thank you profoundly as the journey continues.

And for The College of New Rochelle, a prayer:

“May God who began this good work bring it to its fullness.”

Sincerely,

Stephen J. Sweeney, Ph.D.
President
President Stephen J. Sweeny and the Board of Trustees officially closed “The Campaign for The College of New Rochelle” on June 30, 2010. It was the most successful campaign in the College’s history, raising more than $78 million for special projects including the construction of a new Wellness Center, the renovation of Gill Library and Holy Family Chapel, an updated Learning Center for Nursing, continued support of the laptop program, and millions of dollars for direct assistance to students in the form of scholarships and financial aid. Contributions to endowment and current operations were also part of this extensive campaign.

The first phase was planned for five years (1994-1999) with a $20 million goal to address the renovation of both Gill Library and Holy Family Chapel, and growth in Annual Fund/endowment gifts to assist students with scholarships. CNR closed the first phase early, in 1998, having raised more than $20 million in a little less than five years—a milestone for CNR. The generosity of trustees, graduates, and friends enabled the College to also complete preliminary renovations on Leland Castle.

CNR took the next two years to think about and prepare for what might be the next initiative. Momentum from the first phase continued, and the College was able to make a major investment in technology because of several significant capital contributions during this time. Part of this planning included re-assessing fundraising strategies and conducting feasibility dinners for vital feedback.

In July 2000, the College began again with the second campaign phase focused on a new Wellness Center and calculated growth in both the Annual Fund and endowment revenue to benefit all CNR students. It was an aggressive $50 million goal scheduled to conclude in 2004, the College’s 100th anniversary. It didn’t seem too optimistic given the booming dot.com economy of the 1990s which had served CNR well.

Needless to say, the College’s second phase was influenced by a decade of significant change, heart-wrenching tragedy, and for CNR in many ways unprecedented success. The enormous tragedies of 9/11 delayed much of the forward movement of CNR’s campaign phase two by almost two years. Uplifted by CNR’s Centennial celebrations in 2004, graduates and friends contributed more than ever before to the Annual Fund. Momentum improved steadily, and it was a grand opening for CNR’s new Wellness Center in 2008. Then came America’s worst recession since the Great Depression, again slowing the pace of contributions to the College’s campaign “finish line.” In its January 2010 look-back issue, Time magazine appropriately declared the years 2000-2009 “the decade from hell.”

Nobody said it would be easy. And thankfully, many of CNR’s family of donors were with us for all or most of this journey. “The Campaign for The College of New Rochelle” ended on June 30, 2010, and although it was prolonged by the events that impacted all of our lives, CNR received more than $78 million from trustees past and present, graduates, friends, corporations, foundations, and government sources, all of whom have a special place in what President Sweeny so often has referred to as CNR’s “heart full of names.”

The College of New Rochelle broke new ground during the past decade. CNR went green with the construction of The Wellness Center, which received LEED Silver certification this past year. The Learning Center for Nursing was refurbished with new equipment, including manikins as part of a state-of-the-art simulation lab. A number of roofs were repaired, most recently in the Science Building and Rogick. Classrooms were updated at all campuses. And again, a major investment in technology was possible, including Smart Boards and a laptop program for the Schools of Arts and Sciences and Nursing. CNR’s first endowed chair in English was established. Millions of dollars in scholarship and financial aid were awarded to students.

In this campaign endeavor, CNR paid attention to the triad of mind, body, and spirit so that students could continue to attain their fullest potential and actively live the College’s mission of Wisdom for life. CNR asked, and so many of the CNR family answered. With enormous gratitude, everyone at The College of New Rochelle thanks you for your generosity and thoughtfulness.

DEAR GRADUATES AND FRIENDS,

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I express my gratitude to each of you who “stayed the course” and participated in the Annual Fund in this challenging year for all of philanthropy. Thousands of graduates and friends supported the College in this struggling economy. All of us at the College are particularly grateful for your loyalty and generosity.

The latest national statistics for philanthropy which cover the previous academic year tell us that 2009 was the worst year for fund-raising in 50 years of surveying voluntary support in America. Donations fell nationally almost 12%, and alumni participation dropped to a record low. Private liberal arts colleges were hit especially hard, showing an overall decline in donations of 19% from the previous year. Statistics for 2010 won’t be available until March 2011. CNR’s fund-raising suffered like all the rest.

The College’s effective approach to endowment management counteracted some of the philanthropic impact on College finances and served us well. Very few special or capital gifts were realized. Bequest revenue, which averaged $600K over the last 10 years, provided $100K of revenue in 2010.

Happily, we had almost the same number of donors in 2010 as we did in 2009 which is remarkable, because most other colleges and universities experienced more marked declines. Even though the funds decreased, you maintained your participation in support of CNR students, which is very heartening and reassuring. Thank you very much!

I would like to extend special appreciation to all members of the CNR family who contributed to the Annual Fund for the first time, including 144 members of the Class of 2010. I encourage you to continue participating in the life of the College in many ways, including the support you have provided this year, which is so essential to our students.

As the economy strengthens, CNR will continue to flourish, providing rigorous education to a diverse community of students. Our partnership with you is vital and important. I look forward to continuing our relationship as we support CNR’s work in transforming the lives of our students.

We need your active participation—everyone’s active participation—year in and year out, and we are very grateful for all you continue to do for us and with us.

Sincerely,

Lillian Brennan Carney SAS’69

2010 ANNUAL REPORT / THE COLLEGE OF NEW ROCHELLE

THE CAMPAIGN FOR THE COLLEGE OF NEW ROCHELLE

The Campaign for The College of New Rochelle was implemented in fiscal year 2001 to strengthen financial resources in order for CNR to continue to fulfill its mission. Included in this Campaign, in addition to donations to the Wellness Center construction and programs, were donations to: restore Holy Family Chapel, strengthen CNR’s Endowment Fund, and support the College’s operations via the Annual Fund. The Board of Trustees and President Sweeny closed the campaign as of June 30, 2010. During the two phases of this fund-raising campaign (1994-1998 and 2001-2010), more than $78 million was contributed by Trustees, graduates, friends, corporations, foundations, and government funding sources. There are still many naming opportunities available in the Wellness Center, and your continued support of this vital facility will be gratefully received.

Our heartfelt appreciation is extended to each of the following donors to The Campaign for The College of New Rochelle between 2001-2010. Donors to the 2010 Annual Fund are listed in the sections that follow.

THANK YOU!
Partners for Excellence is a College-wide effort to engage students, faculty, staff, graduates and friends in a meaningful and mutually beneficial relationship to provide for the current and future health of the College. Financial support is one critical cornerstone of a strong and vibrant learning community.

We thank all students, faculty, staff, graduates and friends who are our ‘Partners for Excellence’, who so generously and consistently support the College, its mission and most importantly its students.

In 2008-2009, new donor recognition societies were created to express our deep appreciation to our most generous donors and our most loyal donors via special listings and membership in the St. Angela Society, Mother Irene Gill Society, The President’s Circle, Annual Fund Gift Societies and the Fidelis Society.

St. Angela Society

St. Angela Merici was the foundress of the Ursuline Order. CNR was originally named the College of St. Angela in 1906 by its Ursuline foundresses. Over the past century, St. Angela’s history and legacy have been kept alive through the vitality of the College’s mission, and on campus in the naming of Angela Residence Hall, the celebration of the Feast of St. Angela annually in January, and the bronze statue of St. Angela Merici on the New Rochelle campus.

With profound gratitude, we recognize these donors whose cumulative lifetime giving to all funds has provided truly foundational support for the growth and development of The College of New Rochelle.

Mother Irene Gill Society

Mother Irene Gill (1860-1935) was a religious leader, academic administrator, and founder of The College of New Rochelle. Against the odds, she created the College of Saint Angela (the name changed in 1910 to The College of New Rochelle). Under her leadership, the College became the fifth Catholic women’s college in the country, the first in New York State and is now the largest Catholic college for women in the nation.

The College is extraordinarily grateful to the following donors whose cumulative lifetime giving to all funds has generously supported the College for so many years.

THE PRESIDENT’S CIRCLE

ANNUAL FUND LEADERSHIP GIFT SOCIETY
Membership in The President’s Circle—CNR’s most prestigious Annual Fund donor recognition society—is granted to donors whose unrestricted gifts to the Annual Fund total $1,500 or more each year (July 1 to June 30). Matching gifts are included in the donor’s gift total.

Unrestricted gifts are critical to the financial health of the College and can be used where the need is greatest. Most often, this provides for the additional things that ensure an academically rich educational experience. Gifts to the Annual Fund also permit the College to offer more competitive and attractive scholarships and enhanced financial aid for students in need.

Members of The President’s Circle gave more than $786,000 in 2010. With great appreciation, we thank these 193 donors and welcome them into one of the following President’s Circle donor recognition societies.

THANK YOU!
The College of New Rochelle thanks its many donors listed in this report who have made contributions between July 1, 2009 and June 30, 2010. If we have inadvertently misspelled your name or if your name has been omitted, please accept our apologies and call The Office of College Advancement, at 800-474-4232 so the correction can be made to our records. Or you can email us at makeagift@cnr.edu.
The College of New Rochelle proudly recognizes and thanks its more than 1600 faithful donors who have contributed to one of the College’s funds every year for 10 years or more. They are steadfast in their support for CNR, and we are profoundly grateful to them. (We include those whose records are unbroken, save one year in the past ten, or two years in the past twenty.) Membership in the Fidelis Society is renewed with each subsequent year of continued support.

MEMBERS

The following group of dedicated and committed alumn/i and friends ensures CNR’s continued success. We are ever grateful to these donors because they raise the bar high and set an example for others through their loyal giving.

FOUNDING MEMBERS

We also recognize a very special group within the Fidelis Society who have given every year for 20 years or more. We are so grateful to them and celebrate them as Founding Members of the Fidelis Society. They are noted in this report by the symbol (†).

Note: The Fidelis Society was created as part of the Partners for Excellence campaign launched in 2008. Every effort is made to accurately identify and list all Fidelis Society members. If you believe we have overlooked you, or incorrectly listed you, please contact the Office of Annual Giving at 1-800-474-4232.

THANK YOU!
The College of New Rochelle thanks its many donors listed in this report who have made contributions between July 1, 2009 and June 30, 2010. If we have inadvertently misspelled your name or if your name has been omitted, please accept our apologies and call The Office of College Advancement, at 800-474-4232 so the correction can be made to our records. Or you can email us at makeagift@cnr.edu.
SCHOOL OF NEW RESOURCES

The College's alumnae/i are among its most important assets, for it is their support each year that makes new programs, equipment, scholarships and financial aid, including the SNR Retention Fund, possible. The College is grateful for the generosity and loyalty of its many School of New Resources alumnae/i donors.

The College also wishes to recognize by campus those members of the 2010 senior class who made their first gift to the College's Annual Fund while still students. We celebrate them for beginning their status as alumnae/i in this special way.

In addition to gifts to the Annual Fund, the generosity of our alumnae/i, and friends is expressed through other kinds of gifts to the College: gifts in memory or in honor of an alumna or alumnus, faculty, family member or friend; restricted gifts for special purposes or programs; gifts in-kind; endowed gifts, estate gifts and contributions through the Golf and Tennis Outing. Corporate matching gifts provide an additional significant source of revenue. We are ever grateful to our donors who take advantage of them to benefit the College.

CNR also recognizes with gratitude the corporations, foundations, and other local and federal funding sources who provide grants for new initiatives and ongoing programs. We are ever grateful to them.
